PRESIDENT'S REPORT

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

2015 has been a challenging year for the NSW AECG. It has been the first year where our funding from the Commonwealth Government has seen a significant reduction. Contrary to the Commonwealth Government's view that we do not provide a service, we have continued to support and grow our network of local AECG's across the State who work tirelessly at the local level to support and participate in every facet of Aboriginal peoples' determination to a quality education.

This year has seen our service delivery extended to Professional learning for teachers and staff involved in delivering education. The NSW AECG is endorsed as a provider of Quality Teaching Council (QTC) Registered Professional Development which counts towards accreditation to be a registered teacher in NSW. We continue to support Connecting to Country facilitated by Local AECG's, deliver Healthy Culture Healthy Country and sessions on a number of syllabus related cross curricula perspectives.

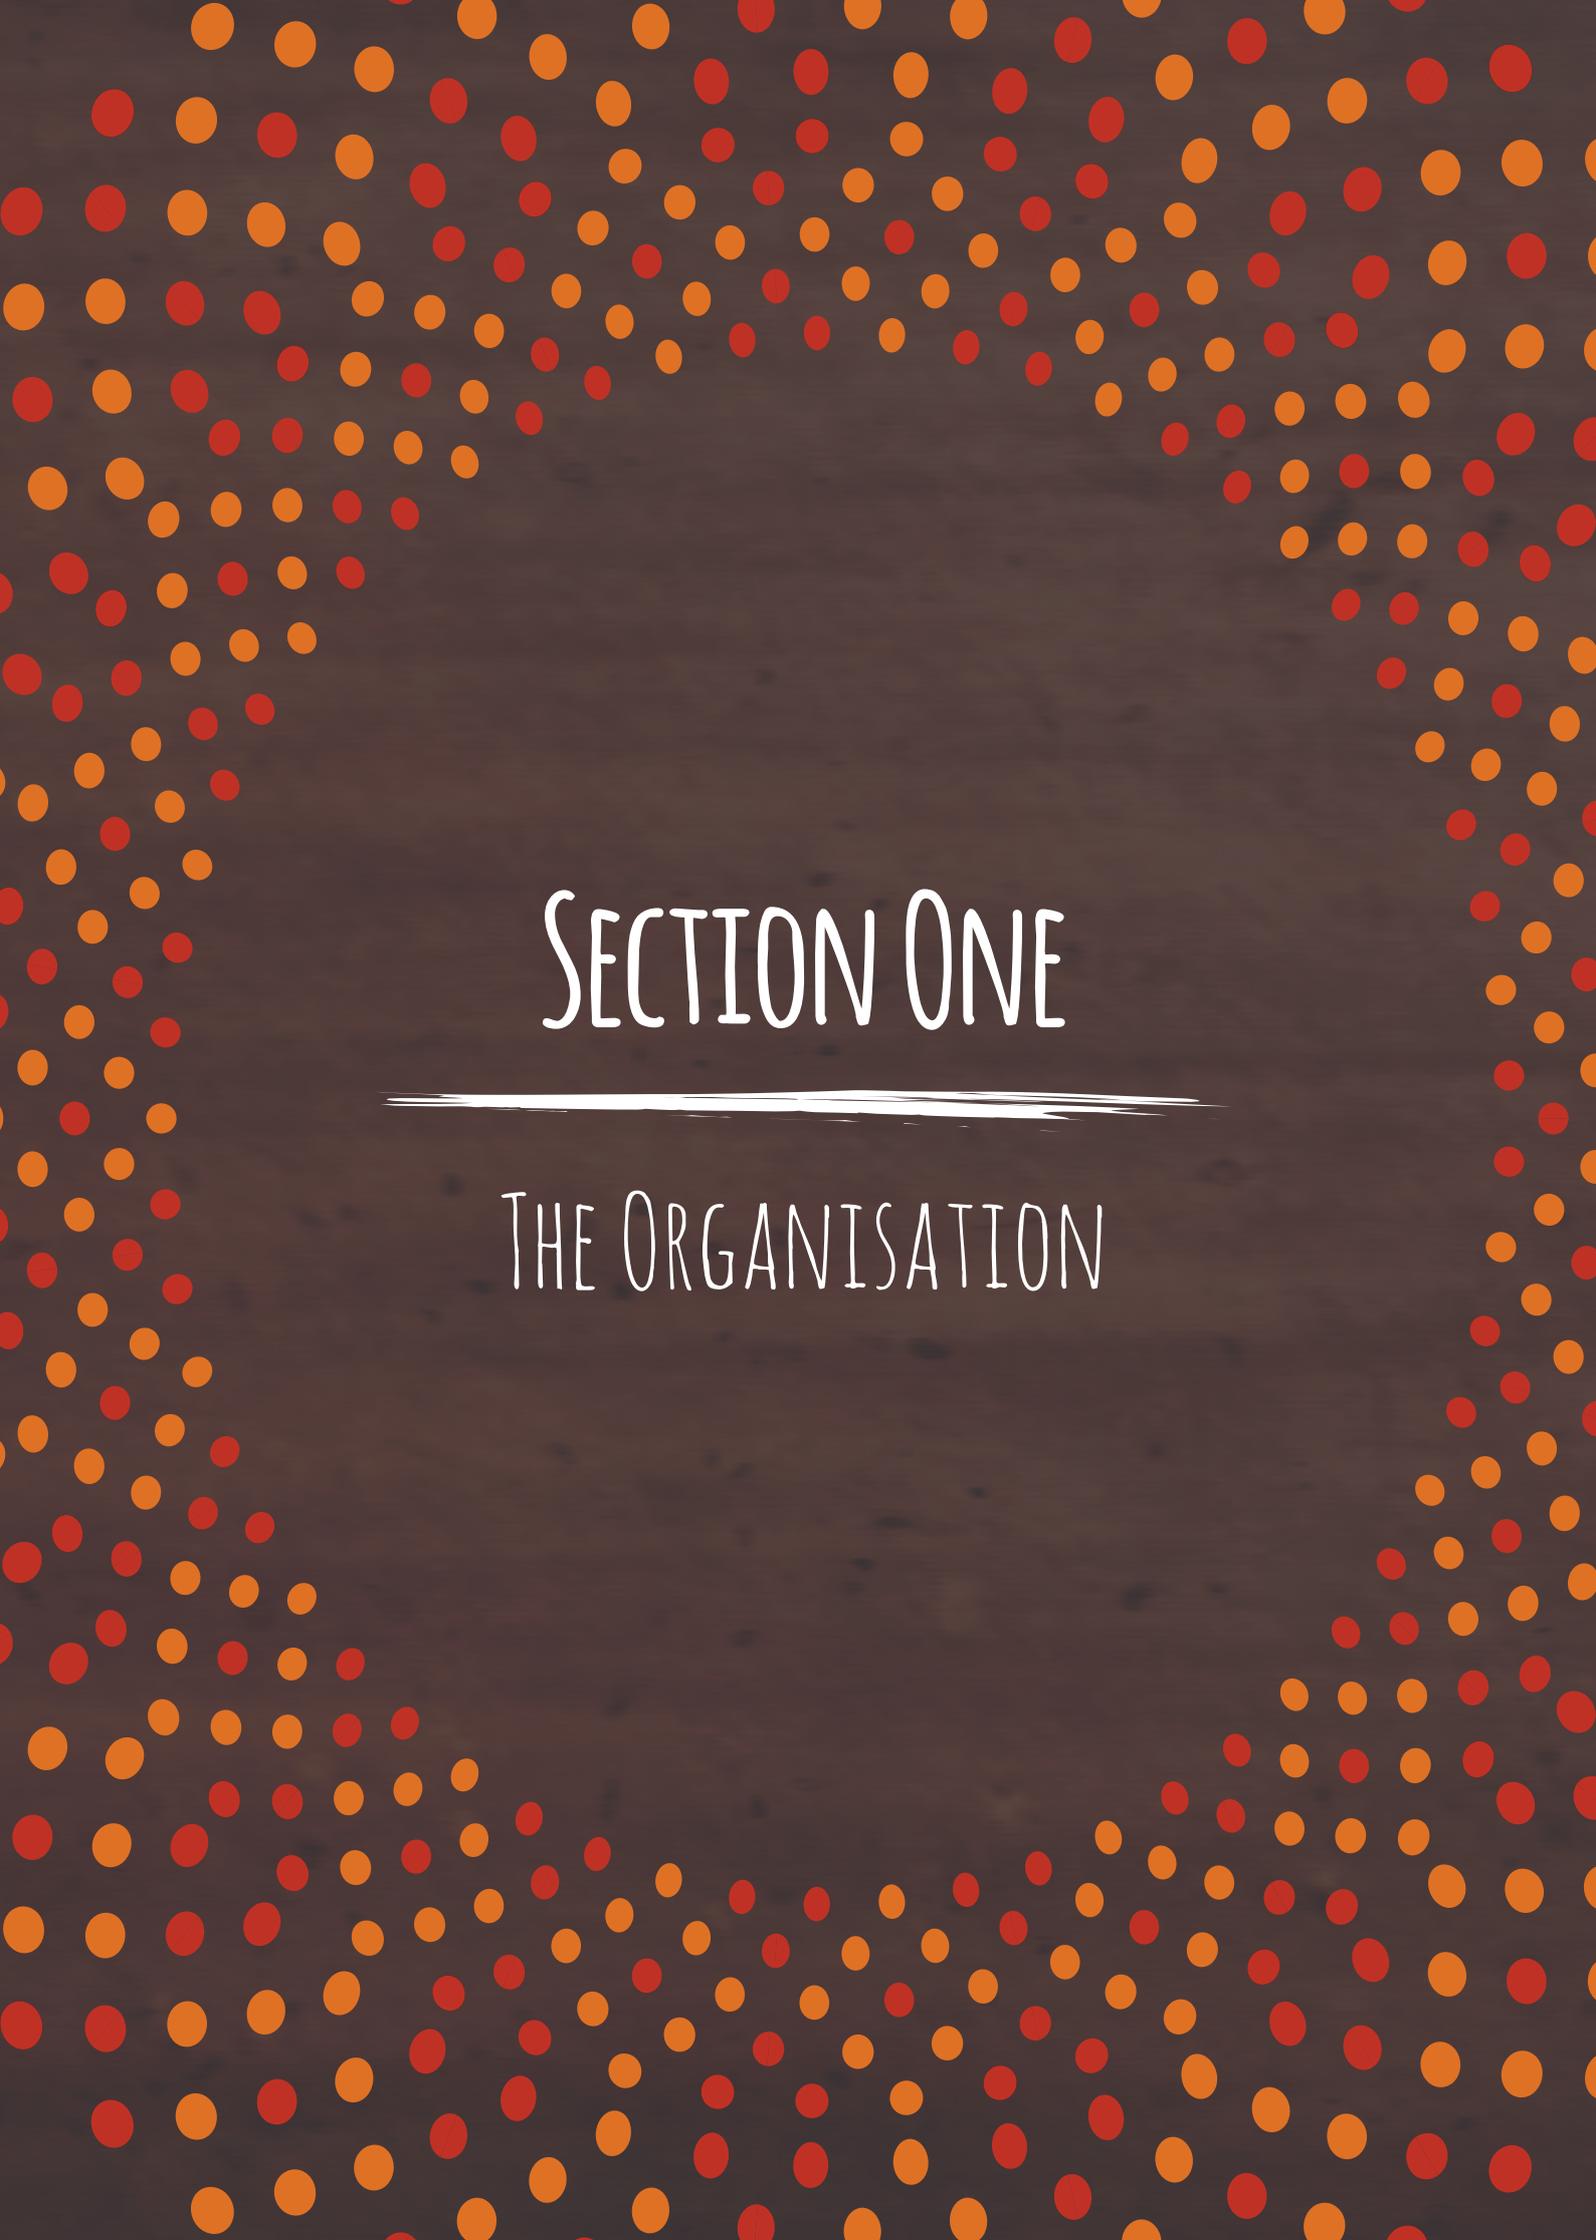

To support the teaching of Aboriginal studies across the curriculum, the NSW AECG has started to develop resources with teaching and learning activities. In 2015, these resources included an Aboriginal Tools Resource Kit, Aboriginal Sites Kit and a Gomeri Numbers Count to ten Kit. More teaching and learning activities are planned.

The NSW AECG partnered with the Department of Education Connected Communities and the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Mathematics Alliance to coordinate a Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM) Camp for Aboriginal students in regional and remote NSW. This camp was a huge success and fostered interest in the STEM subjects.

The NSW AECG network continue to play a critical role in supporting access and opportunities in education for Aboriginal people and their communities including holding those accountable who have the responsibility in ensuring those things happen. Our advocacy role is so important and has been instrumental in some of the achievements we have made to date.

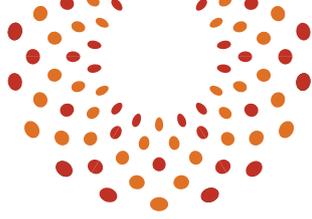

This Annual Report, as usual, provides a snapshot of the myriad of activities the NSW AECG is involved in that makes a difference to our communities every day.

Topics discussed included Budgets, Local Schools Local Decisions, Aboriginal Languages, Connecting to Country, Training and Development needs and regional business including the development of a regional handbook and membership.

TRAINING

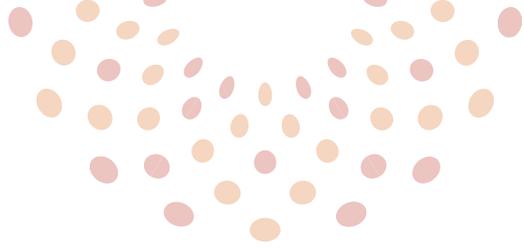

In 2015 the NSW AECG, in partnership with Sydney Institute of TAFE, continued to provide members with the opportunity to undertake accredited training by attending the following courses:

 - Conducting and managing meetings
 - Public Speaking Skills
 - Critical thinking skills
 - Some writing skills

 - Strategies to address racist behaviours

AECG Writes

- This is a short course over 4 days, usually held in two blocks of two days. Some of the writing skills and tasks include:

 - Choosing the right tone for your reader
 - Good word choices
 - Letter writing
 - Submission writing
 - Minutes and Agendas

Better Thinking

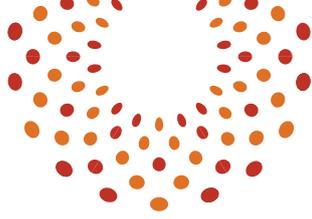

- It aims to challenge the way we think and help to understand the value of curiosity and questioning. There were lots of activities designed to stimulate the thought processes including:
 - The difference between critical and uncritical thinking
 - About blocks to critical thinking
 - A practical approach to how to think critically, and
 - Ways you can use critical thinking to solve problems.

This training has helped participants work effectively in their role in the NSW AECG, in schools and in their own communities. It has effectively increased Aboriginal community participation and engagement within schools through skill developments that have enabled them to be part of the decision making processes within schools, for example participating in merit selection panels. Community members who have attended the course have also increased their confidence in their skills to foster better relationships with schools. As a result many who have attended these courses have gone on to gain further employment. This in turn has also had the additional outcome of providing important role models in Aboriginal families and communities.

SECTION TWO

ACTIVITIES

ACTIVITIES

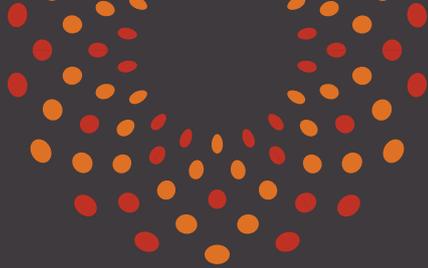

PROFESSIONAL LEARNING

In 2015 the NSW AECG conducted many Professional Development (PD) workshops for educators across the state. The PD workshops delivered in 2015 included: First Contact – Stage two history syllabus; Personalised Learning Plans for Aboriginal students; Living Things - An Aboriginal perspective for Stage 2 Science; and Water - Stage 4 Geography Syllabus. The workshops support teachers to include Aboriginal perspectives within their teaching. They are also Quality Teaching Council Registered courses, addressing the Australian Professional Standards for Teachers towards maintaining Proficient Teacher Accreditation in NSW. In total 515 teachers participated in courses across NSW. Evaluations for all workshops were overwhelmingly positive with teachers consistently commenting on the professional and engaging delivery and the applicability and educational relevance of the workshop resources.

ADVANCING NSW ABORIGINAL LANGUAGES & CULTURE THROUGH EDUCATION FORUM

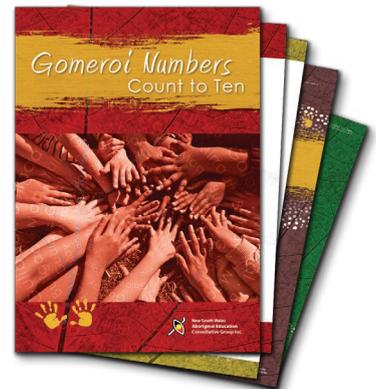

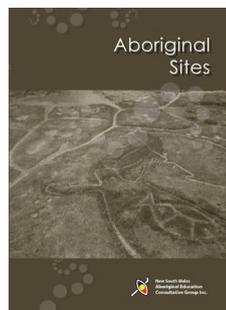

This forum was held at the Sydney Institute of TAFE Turner Hall on Friday August 13 and Saturday August 14, 2015. It started with a Welcome To Country followed by an opening address by the Aboriginal Affairs Minister Hon Lesley Williams. Dr Shayne Williams delivered the Keynote address. Over the next two days participants had the opportunity to attend a range of language and culture workshops which showcased the positive work being done in schools, TAFE and across Aboriginal communities. Workshops included presentations on language and culture at Moree East Public School program, an overview of the BoSTES Draft Languages Stage 6 Languages Endorsed Course, Language Acquisition and the MGoals program. The conference concluded with a series of Cultural experiences including a harbour cruise on the Tribal Warrior.

RESOURCES

The NSW AECG continued to develop and distribute a range of educational products in 2015. These products include an Aboriginal Tools resource kit, Gomeroi Numbers kit and an Aboriginal Sites kit. The kits include useful resources for teachers such as information and activity sheets, DVDs, booklets and teaching notes.

CONNECTING TO COUNTRY

In 2015 the Connecting to Country program became an increasingly established, sought after and sustainable professional learning program in NSW. The highly regarded three-day Connecting to Country experience for principals, teachers and school administrative staff was delivered through Local and Regional AECGs across NSW. Locations included Coonamble, Inner City, Hastings, Maitland, Nambucca, Ballina/Cabbage Tree Island, Tweed/ Wollumbin, Walgett and the Hunter. NSW AECG provided secretariat support for Connecting to Country programs when requested.

The Connecting to Country program is a Quality Teaching Council Registered course which addresses the Australian Professional Standards for Teachers and contributes to maintaining Proficient Teacher Accreditation in NSW. Over the course of the three days participants gain valuable access to Aboriginal parents, Aboriginal community members, Representatives from Aboriginal community organisations and key Aboriginal education personnel. The program also provides the opportunity for participants to establish and maintain more respectful relationships with Aboriginal students and significantly increase the depth of their insight into the myriad of social, cultural, historic, economic and political issues that continue to affect and concern Aboriginal peoples and communities. The three day program supports participants' capacity to plan, develop and implement culturally inclusive programs, underpinned by productive pedagogy and practices, while increasing student expectations and performance in literacy, numeracy and general academic outcomes. The knowledge the program delivers allows teachers to develop more culturally appropriate and reflective learning experience so that Aboriginal students are able to increase their engagement and participation in their education.

Reports have indicated increased local community-school partnerships and positive relationships through the local Aboriginal community delivery of the program/teaching of the teachers. Anecdotally there is also evidence that the Connecting to Country experience has: helped schools provide Aboriginal students with a sense of pride and identity in themselves and their school: decreased incidences of behavioural issues; and increased student participation and attendance.

It is estimated that in 2015 more than 300 school staff participated in Connecting to Country programs across the state. It is envisaged that the Connecting to Country program will continue to grow and be successfully delivered across NSW in 2016 by the Local AECGs and their Communities.

HEALTHY CULTURE HEALTHY COUNTRY

The Healthy Culture Healthy Country course was developed in 2014 by Dr Shayne Williams, Consultant in Language and Culture with the NSW AECG. The Healthy Culture Healthy Country course is a Quality Teaching Council Registered course, which addresses 1.3.2, 1.4.2, 2.1.2, 2.2.2, 2.4.2, 3.2.2, 3.3.2, 3.7.2, 5.1.2, 7.3.2 and 7.4.2 the Australian Professional Standards for Teachers and contributes to maintaining Proficient Teacher Accreditation in NSW. The course is run over either one or three days. It advances the importance of maintaining local Aboriginal languages and cultures through education and offers participants the opportunity to build their knowledge and understanding of how to:

- develop a local Aboriginal cultural education
- deliver a local Aboriginal cultural education
- work effectively with local Aboriginal peoples and communities

The Healthy Culture Healthy Country programme brings participants attention to the synthesis between the health of culture, the health of Country, and the health and wellbeing of Aboriginal Australians.

The course was piloted in 2015 in a moderated form within the school of teacher education at the Dubbo campus of Charles Sturt University. Approximately 16 university students, local community members and NSW AECG staff participated. In 2015 Healthy Country Healthy Culture courses were also delivered to groups of approximately 25 teachers, stage leaders and principals in Newcastle (Plattsburg PS) and Yarradamarra Centre at Dubbo TAFE. Healthy Culture Healthy Country courses have received very positive feedback from participants. For example, participants have promoted the course at relevant conferences recommending the course to all universities, while other participants have said that the course allowed them to begin realising the depth of connection to land Aboriginal people.

In 2016 the Healthy Culture Healthy Country course will continue to be increasingly delivered for NSW Public Schools, Independent and Catholic Schools as well as NSW Department of Education curriculum directorate consultants and administrative staff.

STEM CAMP

The Science Technology Engineering and Mathematics (STEM) Youth Development Camp is a joint initiative between the Connected Communities initiative, the NSW AECG and the newly-formed Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Mathematics Alliance (ATSIMA). The inaugural STEM camp was held in Dubbo during late October, 2015 with the NSW AECG acting as a driving force in organising the logistics of the highly successful event.

The three day camp brought together approximately 130 students from Boggabilla, Bourke, Collarenebri, Coonamble, Inverell, Moree, Narromine, Taree, Toronto, Walgett and Wilcannia. The students who came to the camp had lots of fun, had the chance to meet inspiring role models and were involved in many engaging, meaningful and enjoyable learning experiences over the three day event. The highly positive feedback which illustrated how the camp had influenced their perspective on education and future careers in the STEM fields.

“Coming on camp has made me really want to see if I could go to University because there's a lot of Aboriginal people here that have gone really far even from a bad background and its made me think maybe I could go do that too and go to uni and do what I want” (Student on STEM camp)

Leaders of the collaborative network that organised the inaugural STEM camp also expressed how the meaning and success of the event.

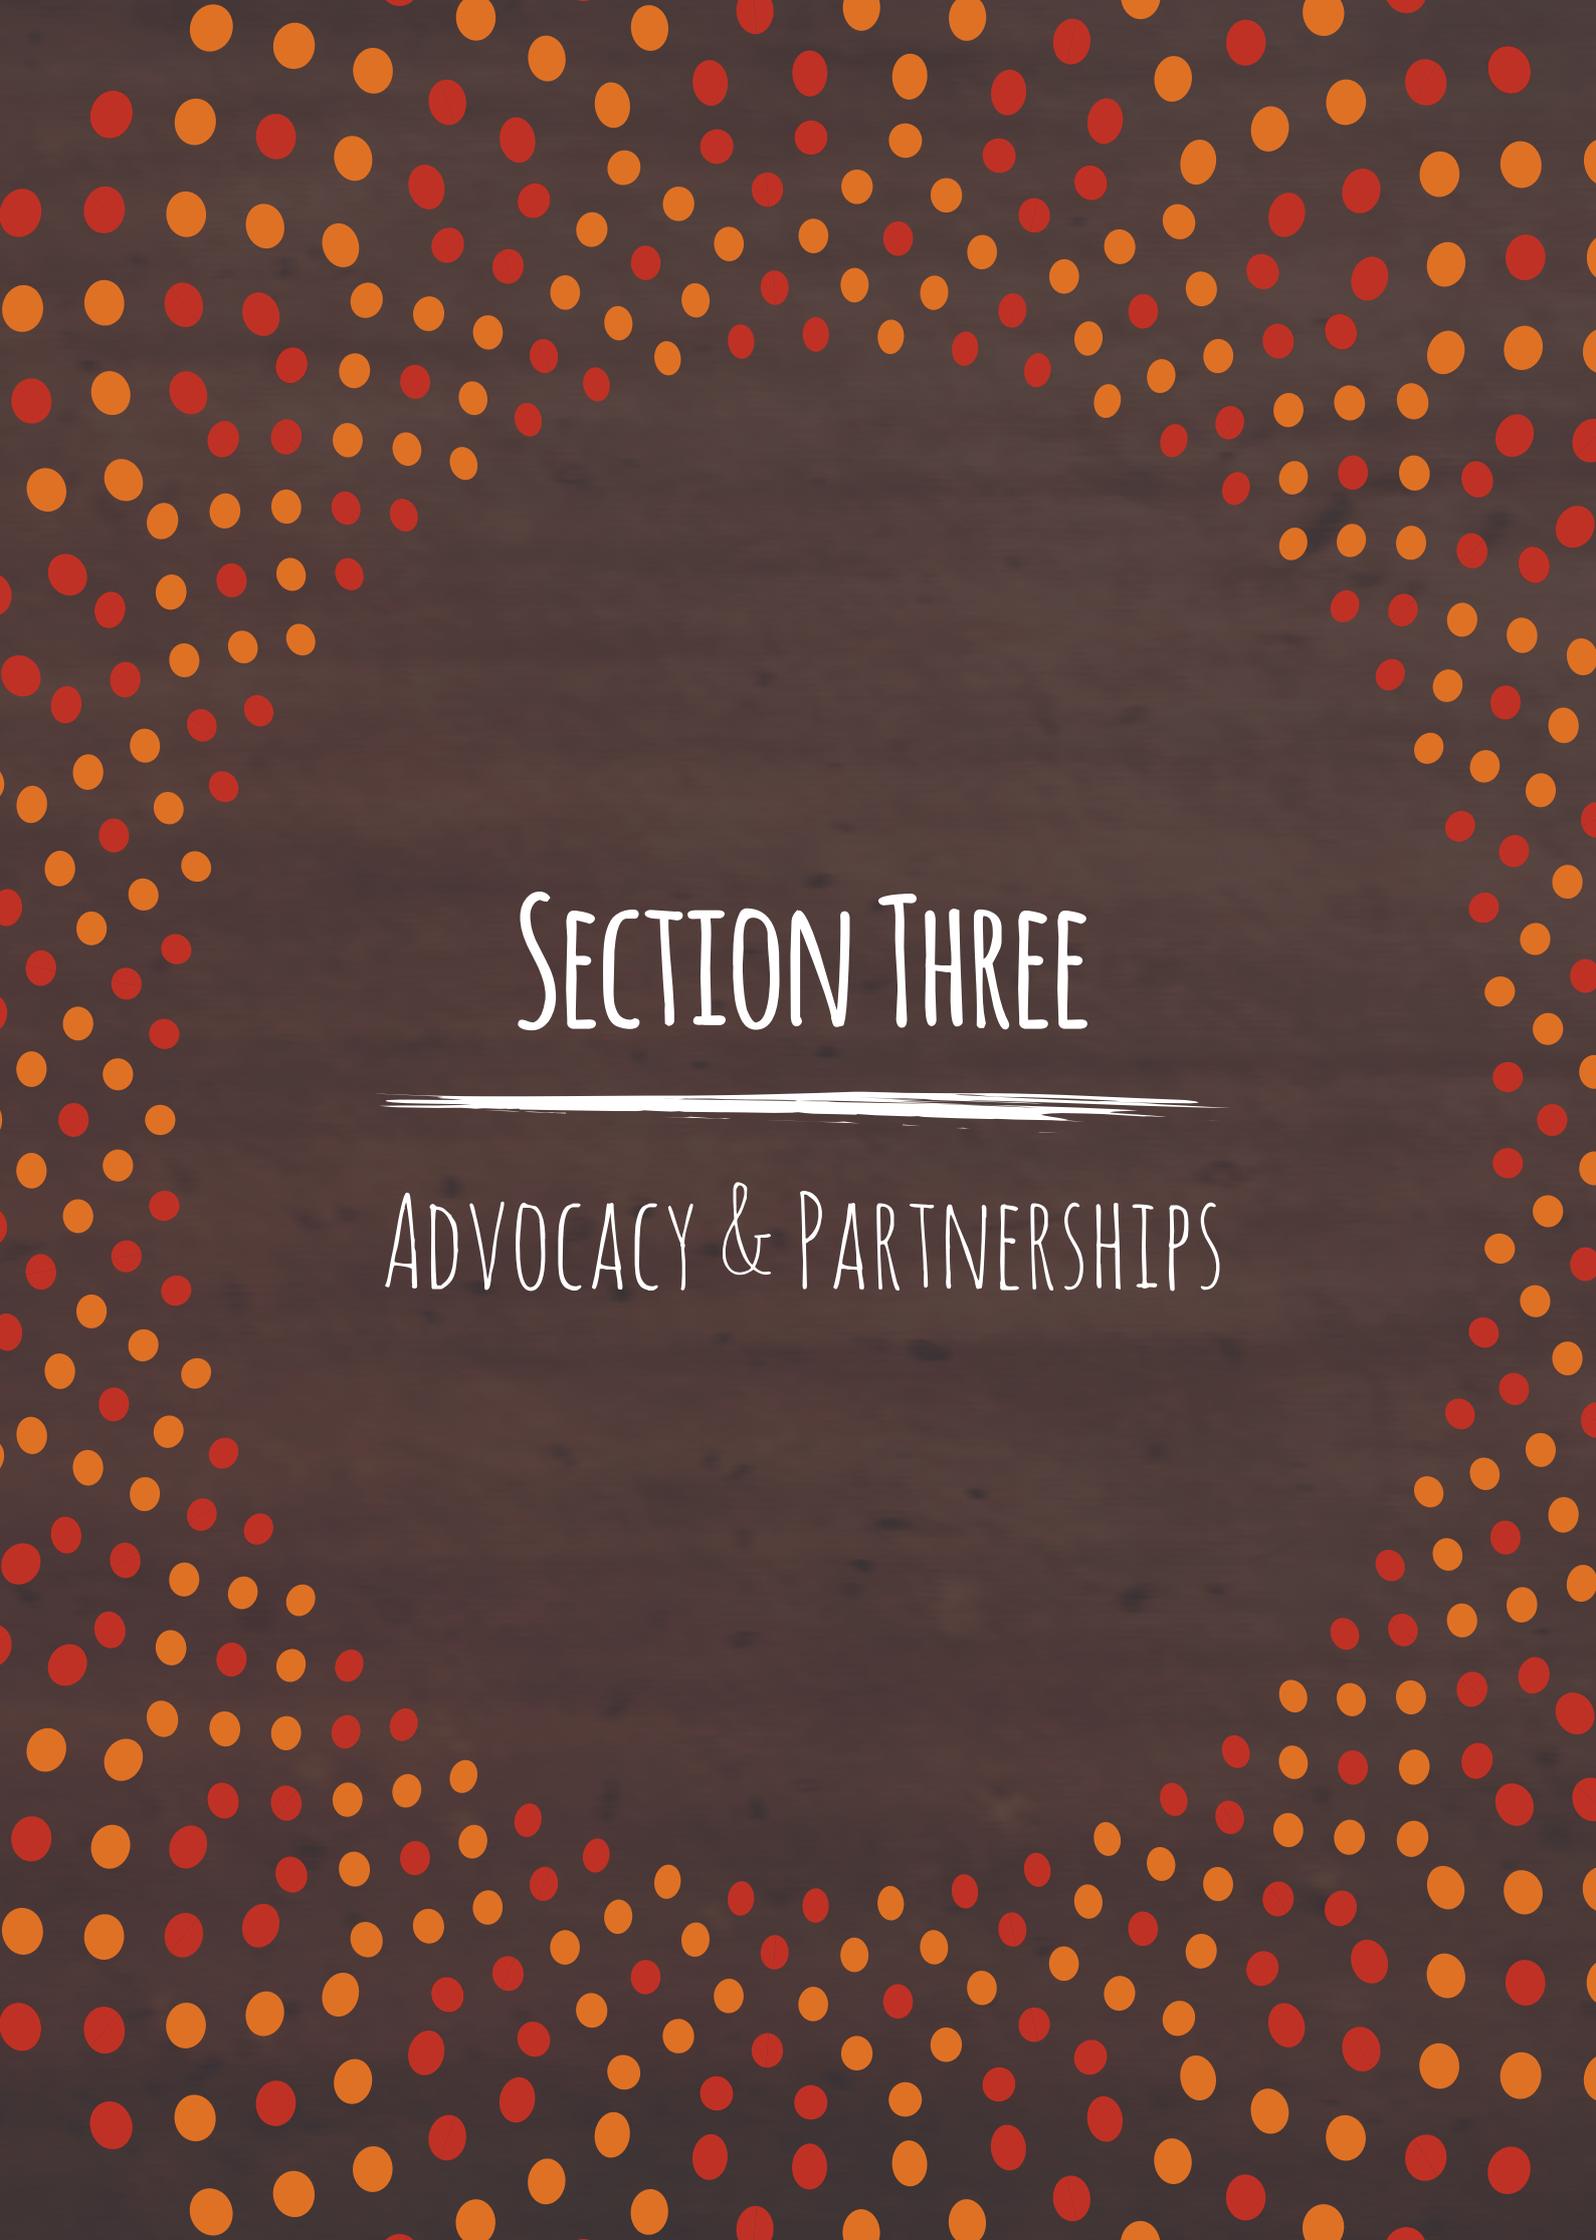

“Through hands on activities, engaging with industry and meeting and mixing with role models we want to inspire these students and give them the confidence to seek a STEM future.” (Michelle Hall - Connected Communities Executive Director)

“We believe in giving kids every opportunity and our commitment is to advocate for and foster better educational outcomes and life opportunities for Aboriginal students. Supporting students to participate in workshops like this, which is based around a culturally inclusive framework, gives them a strong sense of identity while engaging in the broader curriculum areas.” (Cindy Berwick – NSW AECG President)

“The camp also compliments the AECG's vision to develop leadership skills and the newly-formed ATSIMA can act as a 'change agent' by encouraging students to believe they can be successful mathematicians.”

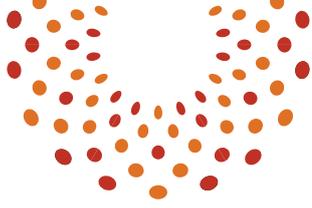

The fact that four STEM camps are in the planning for 2016 is also indicative of the success of the 2015 STEM camp.

SECTION THREE

ADVOCACY & PARTNERSHIPS

ADVOCACY & PARTNERSHIPS

MGOALS

The online program has increased by over 200% growth with the support of the NSW AECG, there was an increase of 33 more community and school sites engaging with the online tool to help support Aboriginal Students in 2015.

By utilizing MGoals schools and their communities are able to work in partnership to develop Aboriginal Educational programs for all students based on local content and should be more easily adapted for all stages within the curriculum. The project and final endorsement of anything that is uploaded to the Mgoals website has to have been consulted on with the Local AECG.

ABORIGINAL STUDIES ASSOCIATION

During 2015, the NSW AECG Inc. continued its partnership with the Aboriginal Studies Association as well as providing administrative support.

The Aboriginal Studies Association (ASA) attempts to:

- Promote the teaching of Aboriginal Studies and perspectives at all levels of education;
- Foster partnerships with local Aboriginal communities and appropriate stakeholders to support the development of Aboriginal Studies at all levels;
- Increase teacher and community awareness of and involvement in Aboriginal Studies at all levels of education;
- Develop and support ongoing curriculum and pedagogical practices that contribute to the improvement of Aboriginal student outcomes; and
- Provide opportunities to engage in professional and personal learning and dialogue through the ongoing development of networks and learning communities.

Working closely with the NSW AECG Inc. the Aboriginal Studies Association continues to co-ordinate teacher network meetings to reinforce the learning outcomes from the community delivered component of Connecting to Country. This provides additional support to teachers in incorporating a local Aboriginal perspective into their teaching and learning program.

We look forward to continuing our partnership with ASA and supporting teachers to teach Aboriginal studies.

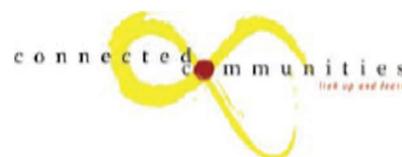

TAFE WESTERN

TAFE Western has continued to involve the NSW Aboriginal Education Consultative Group Inc. in a respectful and genuine partnership that has enabled Aboriginal people to have their voice heard and the opportunity to ensure a culturally safe and supportive environment for those undertaking vocational education and training.

CONNECTED COMMUNITIES

The Connected Communities Strategy launched in 2012 continues to provide a solid foundation for a new approach to improve the educational outcomes in 15 targeted schools across NSW. The strategy relies on a strong partnership from the community and the school leadership to ensure the vision and aspirations of the community is an integral part of the strategic approach.

Under the strategy, schools takes on a much broader “community hub” model and this approach is used a focal point for improved staff and student outcomes. The community hub model allows for a holistic approach in the increased effectiveness in delivery of services supporting children and young people in a lifelong learning approach to sustainable employment.

Increasingly, the Connected Communities focus on reinforcing our cultural identity through language nests and cultural streams has attracted considerable attention as a model of good practice and already positive signs in student attendance and retention.

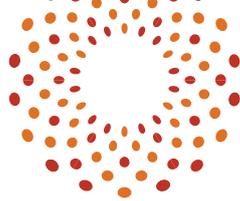

The involvement of the Local AECG as chair of each established school reference group has, in some sites, provided a challenging approach in providing direction and community advice together with the school leadership. Both Local and Regional AECG's work in building the capacity of the community will ensure the evidenced based value of place based approach to education is systemically sustained.

CHARLES STURT UNIVERSITY, DUBBO

The NSW AECG was able to have a partnership with Charles Sturt University in delivering Healthy Culture Healthy Country to teacher education students at the Dubbo Campus in conjunction with the Local AECG at Dubbo.

New teachers were able to engage with the Local Aboriginal Community and were given a look into the Cultural curriculum that Dr. Shayne Williams has developed.

RMS

The NSW AECG has continued its support for this program for the way it provides scholarships for young students in High School to help them achieve outcomes and go on to further Educational pathways. The Secretariat still provide the Administration side of the scholarships.

BOSTES

In partnership with the the NSW AECG Inc the Board of Studies, Teaching and Educational Standards endeavours to ensure that it is represented on all BoSTES committees. This representation means that Aboriginal advice informs decision-making and that Aboriginal perspectives are included in syllabus documents.

The NSW AECG Inc participation on BoSTES is of paramount importance, it ensures that curriculum meets the needs of Aboriginal students and promotes awareness and understanding of Aboriginal Australia by all students. The NSW AECG Inc continues its representation on BoSTES and provides advice on all relevant matters pertaining to inclusive curriculum and the implementation of Aboriginal perspectives in syllabuses, curriculum and teaching.

The NSW AECG Inc looks forward to continued collaboration in order to improve outcomes for Aboriginal students in all schooling, as well as ensuring the education of all students about Aboriginal Australia within the context of understanding the true and shared history.

IPROWD

Since the IPROWD program's inception, TAFE Western has involved the NSW Aboriginal Education Consultative Group Inc. in a respectful and genuine partnership that has enabled Aboriginal people to have their voice heard and the opportunity to ensure a culturally safe and supportive environment for those who wish to enter the NSW Police as a career.

The NSW AECG, as a member of the State IPROWD Steering committee, continued its association and support of the program during 2015. The NSW AECG is keen to ensure the strong partnerships and working relationships with Department of Prime Minister and Cabinet, Charles Stuart University, TAFE NSW and NSW Police continue to provide an increasingly recognised and successful pathway for Aboriginal people into the NSW Police.

NOTE 1: STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The committee has determined that the association is not a reporting entity.

The financial report is a special purpose financial report prepared in accordance with the requirements of the Associations Incorporation Act of NSW 2009 and the Associations Incorporation Regulations 2010 and the following Australian Accounting Standards:

AASB 1031 Materiality

AASB 110 Events after the Reporting Period

No other Australian Accounting Standards, Urgent Issues Group Consensus Views or other authoritative pronouncements of the Australian Accounting Standards Board have been applied.

The financial report has been prepared on an accruals basis and is based on historic costs and does not take into account changing money values, or except where specifically stated, current valuations of non-current assets.

The following material accounting policies, which are consistent with the previous period unless otherwise stated, have been adopted in the preparation of this financial report.

a. Income Tax

The association is registered as an income tax exempt charitable institution, accordingly no provision for income tax is necessary nor is one represented in these financial accounts.

b. Plant and Equipment

Fixed assets are carried at cost, less, where applicable, any accumulated depreciation.

The depreciable amount of all fixed assets are depreciated over the useful lives of the assets to the association commencing from the time the asset is held ready for use. The useful life in year used for property, plant and equipment are 2 to 13 years.

c. Employee Entitlements

Provision for employee benefits in the form of Long Service Leave and Annual Leave have been made for the estimated accrued entitlements, including on-costs, of all employees on the basis of their terms of employment.

In the case of Long Service Leave, the accrual has been measured by reference to periods of service and current salary rates as it is considered that this results in an amount not materially different to that achieved by discounting estimated future cash flows.

d. Going Concern

This financial report has been prepared on a going concern basis, which contemplates continuity of normal operating activities and the realisation of assets and settlement of liabilities in the normal course of the Associations operations.

The continuing operations of the Association and the ability to pay its debts in the normal course is dependent upon the continued support of the funding bodies for grant income.

NOTE 1: STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

e. Subsequent Events

There has not arisen since the end of the financial year any matter or circumstance that has or may significantly affect the operations of the Association, the results of those operations or the state of affairs of the Association in future financial years.

f. Government Grants

Government grants are brought to account on a cash basis, except for specific project grants that are unused at year end. In this case unused specific project grants at year end are treated as “Deferred Grants” for matching against expenditure in future periods.

g. Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents include cash on hand, deposits at call with banks, other short-term liquid investments and bank overdrafts.

h. Impairment of Assets

At each reporting date, the association reviews the carrying values of its tangible and intangible assets to determine whether there is any indication that those assets have been impaired. If such an indication exists, the recoverable amount of the asset, being the higher of the asset’s fair value less costs to sell and value in use, is compared to the asset’s carrying value. Any excess of the asset’s carrying value over its recoverable amount is expensed to the income statement.

Where it is not possible to estimate the recoverable amount of an individual asset, the association estimates the recoverable amount of the cash-generating unit to which the asset belongs.

i. Comparative Figures

When required by Accounting Standards, comparative figures have been adjusted to conform to changes in presentation for the current financial year.

j. Goods and Services Tax (GST)

Revenues and expenses are recognised net of the amount of any applicable GST. Assets and provisions are likewise recognised net of the amount of any applicable GST. Trade creditors in the balance sheet are shown inclusive of GST.

k. Superannuation

Superannuation contributions are made by the Association to an employee’s superannuation fund and are charged as an expense when incurred.

l. Office of the Board of Studies

Operational expense invoices of the Association were submitted to the Office of the Board of Studies during the year for direct payment to suppliers. This practice was consistently applied in prior years.

The NSW Office on the Board of Studies provide an allocation of $643,600 to the association for personnel and operational expenses. During the year, the association directly received $254,646 as expense reimbursement, with the balance provided directly for mainly personnel and information technology services.

m. Inventory

Stock is carried at the lower of cost and net realisable value.
